Is the artist ignoring climate change?

Having challenged poets, writers, visual artists and songwriters with an email entitled "Versing the damage" asking what if anything they have done to tackle climate change, Steve Larkin presents the responses, and reveals how new generations of artists are "Re: versing the damage".

With performance from Alan Buckley, Mark Brown, Lizzie Mc, Steve Larkin and many more. First come, first served - to be assured of a place, please arrive early.
